CALL FOR PAPERS

DEMOCRACY, BETWEEN CRISIS AND NEW CHALLENGE

26 – 27 - 28 OCTOBER 2022
UNIVERSITY OF MESSINA
DEPARTMENT OF POLITICAL AND JURIDICAL SCIENCE
DOCTORATE IN POLITICAL SCIENCE

Across the centuries the notion of democracy has progressively moved away from its literal meaning of “government of the people”. The global crises that occurred through history, generated deep changes within democratic processes.

Even though the political-democratic dimension is anchored to the national level, the economic and financial dimension seems to have global roots: this divergence represents the great challenge facing the democracies all over the world.

For these reasons it is important to stimulate a broad, multidisciplinary debate among young researchers with the aim to focus on some main questions: What is the state of health of democracy today? How democracies have been challenged by the great crises of the past? What challenges lie ahead?

The Student Conference organized by the doctoral students in Political Science of the University of Messina, is addressed to PhD candidates and early scholars in Political Sciences, Law, Economics and Humanities, who attained their degree from no longer than three years.

The aim of the Conference is favouring different methodological approaches and disciplinary fields, focusing on the following themes:

- Democracy and crisis of the representative government
- Sovereignty crisis and global governance
- Democracy and digital ecosystem
- Cooperation to development, innovation and democratic processes
- Democracy, environment and eco-sustainability
- Equality and inclusion: what “gender” of democracy?
- Populism and euro-scepticism in democratic processes
- Representing democracy in arts
- Political participation and democracy between the modern and contemporary ages
